

SIT323 Practical Software Development, Trimester 2, 2020

Week 1 – No Practical

There is no formal practical work for week 1. However, as this unit is the last unit in the programming and cloud majors and it's not about teaching a programming language and all assessment tasks require programming skills, it would be worthwhile for you to spend some time going over C# concepts and object oriented programming from other units such as SIT102 and SIT232.

---